DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-34 are pending in this application. This application is a continuation of 09/338909.

Information Disclosure Statement

The IDS filed 11/7/03 has been entered and considered.

Drawings

The drawings filed with the application are suitable to the examiner.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-32 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-87 of U.S. Patent No. 6,611,833. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because of minor wording differences: for example. The "wherein" clause which modifies step (A) of claim 1 is placed at the end of the claim, instead of after step "F" in claim 1 in the patent. Similarly, claim 1 of the instant application adds the species of “relative cell location, relative matrix location and relative blood vessel location” which are variants of the species recited in step “C” of the patent. Other minor wording differences appear, such as: claims 5-9 of the patent are combined into claim 7 of the instant application. Other minor differences between the instant independent claims and the patent independent claims is the use of the term “analyzing” instead of “assaying” in the analysis of tissue specimens. The instant “analyzing” comprises within its scope the concept of “assaying”. Claims drawn to assaying or imaging “at least two” of the indices are a subset of the patented “at least one” assay or imaging steps. Claims drawn to “assessing normalcy” of the samples are a subset of the patented “classification” claims, wherein the samples are normal or abnormal.

Art Unit: 1631

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 33-34 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. Claims 33-34 are drawn to computer program products which comprise code for performing certain method steps. The specification of 09/338909, of which this application is a continuation, discloses no such products. The instant specification, as filed, discloses databases, but not computer program products comprising any code for performing any method steps. The examiner was unable to even find the word "code" in the specification as filed. These claims are new matter.

Art Unit: 1631

Conclusion

Claims 1-34 appear free of the prior art of record.
